How can you provide for the long-term care and well-being of your special needs child? What protections can be put in place to ensure your child the resources needed after you're gone? How does the law treat special-needs adults and their caregivers?

If you've ever felt any of these concerns, take an evening to learn from the experts. Passaic County Surrogate Judge Bernice Toledo and estate planning attorney Naomi B. Collier, Esq., will explain the ins and outs of how guardianship proceedings and trust and estate planning can give you peace of mind and help ensure your child's security and well-being at any stage of life.
