Daniel R. Guadalupe, partner and co-chair of the Construction Law practice at Pashman Stein Walder Hayden, will be participating in a panel at the 2021 Construction Law Forum presented by the New Jersey Institute for Continuing Legal Education on June 16, 2021 from 9 A.M. - 4 P.M.

The 2021 Construction Law program will provide a day of in-depth analysis of some of the most common areas in construction law. At this very useful program, the panel of recognized NJ authorities will provide a practical and strategic discussion of the current legal encounters they have faced involving consumer fraud claims, construction liens, municipal mechanics liens, bond claims, the economic loss doctrine, drafting clauses in construction law contracts along with mediations, arbitrations and the Complex Business Litigation Program.

This is an extraordinary opportunity for construction lawyers and general practitioners to hone their skills. Join the blue-ribbon panel as they discuss these important topics.
