The Hon. Ronny Jo Siegal (Ret.), Partner at Pashman Stein Walder Hayden, is speaking at the Violence Prevention Symposium hosted by Ramapo College of New Jersey and the County of Bergen.

The theme of this year's symposium, Power-Based Violence: A Look into College Life, takes a deep dive into dating violence and the college student population. Topics include social media harassment, what violence prevention looks like on a campus, stalking behavior and recognizing the signs, as well as resource disparities and barriers that prevent marginalized populations from coming forward to report these crimes.

The event will take place on Tuesday, March 28, from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. at Ramapo College in Mahwah, NJ.
