Pashman Stein Walder Hayden attorney Dillon McGuire was quoted in the Law.com article, "Cannabis Law 'Harmonized' With LAD, Court Says in Green-Lighting Fired Worker's Discrimination Claim". The article explains the New Jersey Supreme Court ruling on cannabis law.

Dillon McGuire of Pashman Stein Walder Hayden in Hackensack, for amicus ACLU-NJ, issued this statement on Tuesday: "Today was an important victory for employees throughout New Jersey who use medical marijuana. ... Despite the scientifically proven benefits of medical marijuana, those patients who chose to treat their ailments with cannabis have been marginalized ever since the Compassionate Use Act was enacted. The Court's decision today was an important step toward securing the rights and dignity that medical marijuana patients deserve."
