Pashman Stein Walder Hayden is pleased to announce that Dillon J. McGuire, associate in the firm's Criminal Defense & Investigations practice groups, has been sworn in as a Trustee of the Association of Criminal Defense Lawyers of New Jersey (ACDL-NJ), for the 2022-2023 term. McGuire is currently serving as Co-Chair of the Young Lawyers Division for the ACDL-NJ.

Since 2021, McGuire has argued before the New Jersey Supreme Court in three criminal law matters on behalf of amicus curiae ACDL-NJ, including State v. Garcia, 245 N.J. 412 (2021), in which the Supreme Court reversed the defendant's conviction.

"We congratulate Dillon on his new role as trustee of the ACDL-NJ," said Pashman Stein Managing Partner Michael S. Stein. "Dillon's commitment to leadership in the ACDL-NJ speaks to his overall dedication to the practice of criminal law and the evolving legislation that impacts criminal defendants."

Established in 1985, the ACDL-NJ is the primary organized voice for the criminal defense bar in New Jersey. With more than 500 members, the ACDL-NJ advocates as amicus curiae in state and federal appellate courts on behalf of the interests of the criminal defense bar and its clients, as well as weighs in on pending legislation affecting criminal defendants. Pashman Stein partner Joseph A. Hayden, Jr. was the founder and first president of the ACDL-NJ (1985-86). Additional Pashman Stein attorneys who have served as president are partner Aidan P. O'Connor (2021-2022), Justin P. Walder (1987-88), partner Raymond M. Brown (1989-90), and of counsel Alan Silber (1992-93).
