

Pashman Stein Walder Hayden is a proud sponsor of the Rutgers Law School Certificate in Cannabis Law and Business

RELATED PRACTICE AREAS

Cannabis & Hemp Law

News

12.9.22

Pashman Stein Walder Hayden is proud to sponsor the Rutgers Law School Certificate in Cannabis Law and Business. The non-credit program was developed specifically for New Jersey's legal cannabis industry to provide business owners with in-depth knowledge of key issues relating to the cannabis rules and regulations in New Jersey. The firm's sponsorship provides scholarships, administered by Rutgers Law School, for people who meet the New Jersey Cannabis Regulatory Commission's definition of Social Equity and/or Diversely Owned Businesses. A Rutgers press release discussing a new partnership, noted:

"Sponsorship from these firms has ensured that those with current financial constraints will be able to participate and learn the legal landscape of running compliant businesses in New Jersey's legal cannabis industry."

Full Scholarships for the Spring 2023 session have been allocated. To learn more about the Rutgers Law School Certificate in Cannabis Law and Business Certificate and its scholarship program, click here.