Tim Malone, partner at Pashman Stein Walder Hayden, was quoted in ALM's Litigation Daily, "What It Takes to Make Partner as a Litigator These Days." The column highlights excerpts from the "How I Made It" series and looks for through lines. Tim was quoted in the section entitled, "Start Connecting the Dots."

Timothy P. Malone of Pashman Stein Walder Hayden in Hackensack, New Jersey, said that he's always tried to take ownership of cases he's worked on, to see the big picture, and to speak up and offer opinions and strategic advice. "I think having the confidence to propose different strategies—while always being respectful of the ultimate call—showed senior attorneys that I had an analytical and curious legal mindset and could be trusted to plot out and pursue a successful outcome for our clients," Malone said.
